The first of these is the fact that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, involving many factors which are not yet fully understood.
 The second is that the system is not a static one, but a dynamic one, which is constantly changing and evolving. The third is that the system is not a closed one, but an open one, which is constantly interacting with the environment.
 The fourth is that the system is not a linear one, but a non-linear one, which is characterized by feedback loops and other non-linearities.
 The fifth is that the system is not a deterministic one, but a stochastic one, which is characterized by random fluctuations and noise.
 The sixth is that the system is not a simple one, but a complex one, which is characterized by many interacting components and a high degree of complexity.

[Faint handwritten Burmese script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

 government has been unable to raise the necessary funds to meet its obligations.
 This is due to a number of factors, including the fact that the government has been unable to collect the necessary taxes, and the fact that the government has been unable to borrow the necessary funds from the international market.
 The second factor is the fact that the government has been unable to implement the necessary reforms to the economy. This has led to a number of problems, including inflation, unemployment, and a general decline in the standard of living. The third factor is the fact that the government has been unable to maintain a stable political environment. This has led to a number of problems, including corruption, and a general lack of confidence in the government.
 These factors have all contributed to the current situation, and it is clear that the government must take action to address these problems if it is to maintain its position as a sovereign state.
